

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1. A pair of nose pads to be loosely fixed to a front of an eyeglasses' frame for supporting the front on the nose, wherein each nose pad has its lower end curved
5 backward, the lower nose-fitting area being smooth-curved.
2. A pair of nose pads to be loosely fixed to the front of an eyeglasses' frame for supporting the front on the nose, wherein each nose pad is relatively thick and concave or curved inward, and that the nose pad has its lower end curved 10 backward, the lower nose-fitting area being smooth-curved.